This Code serves as a framework for ethical decision-making and responsible conduct by all directors, officers, employees, and associated persons of the Company. It embodies the core values of integrity, transparency, accountability, and fairness and reflects the Company's commitment to sustainable growth and good corporate citizenship.

2. Effective Date:

This Code shall be effective from 6th November, 2025.

3. Purpose & Scope:

This Code is intended to:

- Set forth the principles and standards that guide ethical behaviour and responsible business conduct;
- Promote integrity and transparency in the Company's operations, decision-making, and stakeholder interactions;
- Prevent conflicts of interest, bribery, corruption, and other forms of misconduct; and
- Ensure compliance with applicable laws, regulations, and internal policies.

Scope

This Code applies to:

- All Directors, officers, and employees (permanent, temporary, or contractual);
- All consultants, advisors, agents, and third-party representatives acting for or on behalf of the Company; and
- Any subsidiary, associate, or joint venture entity where the Company exercises management control or significant influence including Project companies to which AGPL provides project management services ("Project SPVs"), and the abovementioned persons associated with such Project SPVs.

4. Protecting the Company's assets and resources

4.1 The Company's assets are to be used only for legitimate business purposes.

The Company's assets are meant for business use, not for personal use. We all have a responsibility to protect and safeguard the Company's assets from loss, damage, theft, misuse and waste. If you become aware of loss, damage, theft, misuse or waste of our assets, or have any questions about your proper use of them, you should speak with your supervisor. The Company's name (including its corporate letterhead and logo), facilities and relationships are valuable assets and must only be used for authorized Company business and never for personal activities.

If you use the Company's assets for personal benefit, or otherwise are careless or wasteful with the Company's assets, you may be in breach of your duty to the Company. You have a responsibility not to abuse Company resources for expense reimbursement. Any requests for reimbursement for authorized Company expenses must be for legitimate business expenses.

4.2 Confidential information must be protected at all times.

We must protect confidential information in our possession from disclosure – both information about us and information about other companies and our clients. This includes all confidential memos, notes, lists, records and other documents in your possession, in hard and soft copy. All of these are to be delivered to the Company promptly after your employment ceases or at any time upon the Company's request, and your obligation to protect this information continues after you leave the Company. You must protect hard and soft copies of confidential information that are removed from the office (e.g. to be worked with at home or at external meetings).

It is also important to use discretion when discussing Company business in public places such as elevators, restaurants, and public transportation, or when using your phone or email outside of the office. You should also be careful not to leave confidential information in unattended conference rooms or in public places where others can access it. While at AGPL, if you become aware of confidential information about the Company or another entity that you know or suspect has been inadvertently disclosed, seek guidance from internal legal counsel or your supervisor before using or acting upon this information.

4.3 Intellectual property belongs to the Company.

During the course of your employment, you may be involved in the creation, development or invention of intellectual property such as concepts, methods, processes, inventions, confidential information and trade secrets, works of authorship, trademarks, service marks and designs. All such intellectual property and the rights therein, such as copyrights and patents, will be owned by the Company. You are responsible for cooperating with the Company and providing all necessary assistance to ensure that all intellectual property and related rights become the exclusive property of the Company.

4.4 The documents of the Company must be preserved.

It is critical that you help preserve our business records, follow the guidelines set forth in any document retention policies and comply with related legal and regulatory requirements. If you are notified that your documents are relevant to an anticipated or pending litigation, investigation or audit, you must follow the guidance set forth in the notification you receive from legal counsel.

5. Accuracy of Books and Records and Public Disclosures

5.1 Ensure that the books and records of the Company are complete and accurate and that all business transactions are properly authorized.

The books and records of the Company must reflect all its transactions in order to permit the preparation of accurate financial statements. Employees must never conceal information from (i) an external auditor; (ii) internal audit; or (iii) an audit committee or Board of Directors of the Company. In addition, it is unlawful for any person to fraudulently influence, coerce, manipulate or mislead an external auditor of the Company.

The Company's contracts and agreements govern our business relationships. Because the laws governing contracts and agreements are numerous and complicated we have put in place policies and procedures to ensure that any contract entered into by the Company has the appropriate level of approval. As a result, employees who enter into contracts or agreements on behalf of the Company must have proper authorization and, prior to their execution, these documents must be reviewed by legal counsel where required by policy or practice.

5.2 Ensure that the Company provides true, plain and full disclosure.

All employees who are responsible for the preparation of the Company's public disclosures, or who provide information as part of this process, must ensure that disclosures of information are made honestly and accurately. Employees must be aware of and report any of the following:

(a) Fraud or deliberate errors in the preparation, maintenance, evaluation, review or audit of any financial statement or financial record;
(b) Deficiencies in, or noncompliance with, internal accounting controls;
(c) Misrepresentation or false statements in any public disclosure document, such as annual and quarterly reports, prospectuses, information/proxy circulars and press releases; or
(d) deviations from full and fair reporting of the Company's financial condition.

Additionally, each person who is in a financial reporting oversight role, and their immediate family members, are prohibited from obtaining any tax or other services from the external auditor, irrespective of whether the Company or such person pays for the services.

6. Duties to stakeholders

6.1 Deal fairly with the Company's stakeholders.

You must deal fairly with the Company's security holders, customers, clients, suppliers, other stakeholders and competitors. To preserve our reputation, do not engage in any illegal or unethical conduct when dealing with stakeholders or competitors.

6.2 Exercise extra caution when managing client capital.

As an asset manager (including Company role and responsibility towards Project SPVs), the Company has fiduciary responsibilities in managing the assets of its public and private clients ("Investors" or "Clients"). You must be careful to avoid even the appearance of impropriety when dealing with Clients or in performing any related activities. In this regard, you must avoid engaging in any activity that could result in an actual, potential or perceived conflict of interest, and avoid any action that may be perceived as a breach of trust.

A "conflict of interest" for this purpose occurs when the Company's interest interferes, or even appears to interfere, with the interests of third party investors in their capacity as Clients of the Company or Investors of Project SPVs. All employees are required need to give appropriate disclosures regarding Conflict of Interest at regular intervals as notified by the Company. Any mis-representation will lead to termination of services with cause.

6.3 Cash

In no circumstances must cash be used for any payment or gifts. This includes payments to any suppliers, clients, subcontractors or on a construction project other than for minor day to day items. Where minor consumables are paid for by cash, receipts need to be provided.

6.4 Work place Behaviour

Employees must not engage in bullying behaviour under the Code. Where there are references to harassment in the Code, they should be read as harassment and bullying. Bullying is defined at law as repeated, unreasonable behaviour that creates a risk to the health and safety of another person. In all cases employees must not engage in bullying behaviour.

6.5 Gifts

No gifts are to be given unless they are corporate gifts branded with the AnantGrid logo. No gifts of value greater than INR 2,500 ("Gift Register Amount") are to be accepted by AGPL employees.

- Gifts may not be given to or received from public officials unless it is as part of Company

Promotion during Diwali or New Year or such occasions and specifically approved by CEO.

- Regular receipt/ giving of Gifts is strictly prohibited.

All gifts received or given must be recorded in a Gift Register maintained by the Company.

6.6 Entertainment

It is acceptable to accept modest entertainment from persons doing or seeking to do business with the Company, or to provide modest entertainment to such persons, provided the benefits are given in accordance with generally accepted business practices. Entertainment will be regarded as acceptable where its value is less than INR 2,500 (Two Thousand Five Hundred Indian Rupees) per head. Any exception to the limit can be considered on an exceptional basis subject to prior approval of CEO.

Please note that entertainment could include business trips, tickets to events and associated hospitality and/or lunches or dinners. It could also include circumstances where you procure donations for a charity that either you or the Company supports. Please refer to the Code for further information on the Company's policies in this regard.

CEO approval is required before incurring any entertainment expenses in respect of public officials. Applications for approval for hospitality or entertainment are likely to be inappropriate where the request involves:
- Foreign travel and/ or foreign accommodation
- It has been offered by a sub-contractor/supplier or offered to a client during tender/negotiation phase (i.e. pre- contract where contract anticipated)
- Hospitality where the host does not also attend
- An event where the duration exceeds 1 day
- Regular entertainment of public officials is strictly prohibited

In order to obtain the requisite approval to accept or offer hospitality, services or charitable donations over the value of the Gift Register Amount, you must complete the necessary form, have it approved by CEO, and submit the form for inclusion on the Gift Register.

Where gifts or entertainment are accepted in excess of the Gift Register Amount without approval, an individual will be required to repay the amount. Company will also initiate disciplinary action against concerned employee.

The following is a list of examples (the list is only indicative and not exhaustive) of entertainment and hospitality that might be given or received with an indication as to whether it would be considered acceptable.
- A subcontractor invites you to attend a cricket match. He will be paying for your flights and accommodation. This invitation should be declined.
- You are invited to attend a local sporting event with a client and attend pre match drinks. This invitation can be accepted if the cost is less than INR 2,500. If it is in excess of INR 2,500 it must be approved by CEO prior to acceptance.

- A subcontractor offers you an expensive pen as a 'thank you' for your work on a particular project. This gift should be declined.

7. Communications and media

7.1 Use the Company's various forms of communication properly and appropriately.

All business matters that involve electronic, written communication must be conducted by employees on the Company's email system only. You must at all times use our email, Internet, telephones and other forms of communication appropriately and professionally. While we appreciate the need for limited use of these tools for personal purposes, your use should not be excessive or detract from your work. Employees should not email business information to their personal email accounts or maintain a copy of business information on their personal computers or other non-work electronic devices.

When using company-provided technologies such as computers, cell phones and voicemail, you should not expect that the information you send or receive is private. Your activity may be monitored to ensure these resources are used appropriately.

7.2 Be cautious in your use of social media.

The Company's social media policy is that, unless you are expressly authorized, you are strictly prohibited from commenting, posting or discussing the Company, its Investors, its customers and clients, and its securities, investments and other business matters on social networks, chat rooms, wikis, virtual worlds and blogs (collectively, "social media").

7.3 Do not speak on behalf of the Company unless authorized to do so.

As a responsible Company it is important to ensure our communications are:
(a) timely; full, true and plain; and (b) consistent and broadly disseminated in accordance with all applicable legal and regulatory requirements. You may not make public statements on Investor's (including on behalf of the National Investment and Infrastructure Fund ("NIIF")) or AGPL's behalf unless you have been designated as a "Spokesperson" under its Disclosure Policy. If a shareholder, financial analyst, member of the media or other third party contacts you to request information, even if the request is informal, do not respond to it unless you are authorized to do so. In this event, refer the request to your supervisor or forward the request to an individual at the Company employed in investor relations or communications.

Additionally, either during or following your employment or association or directorship at AGPLyou may be contacted by governmental authorities (e.g. law enforcement, securities regulators, etc.) who are seeking information from you regarding matters relating to AGPL. Whether you are able to respond to these questions or not, we strongly recommend that, for your own protection, you do not speak with authorities without first seeking legal advice on your rights and obligations. In this situation, contact the Company's internal legal counsel or, in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company who can help you retain counsel that can assist you.

8. Conflicts of Interest and Personal Behaviour

8.1 Avoid situations in which your personal interests conflict with the interests of the Company or others as clients of the Company.

A "conflict of interest" for this purpose occurs when a person's private interest interferes, or even appears to interfere, with the interests of the Company. You may have a conflict of interest if you are involved in any activity that prevents you from performing your duties to the Company properly, or that may create a situation that could affect your judgment or ability to act in the best interests of the Company. Accordingly, you should place the Company's interest in any business matter ahead of any personal interest. Remember that the Company's interest includes the Company's fiduciary interest to clients or Investors of the Company.

The best way to judge whether you may have a conflict of interest is to ask yourself whether a well-informed person would reasonably conclude that your interest could in any way influence your decision or performance in carrying out a duty on behalf of the Company. To avoid conflicts of interest, identify potential conflicts when they arise and contact internal legal counsel or in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company, if you are unsure whether a conflict exists.

8.2 Exhibit personal behaviour that reinforces a positive image of you and the Company.

Your personal behaviour, both inside and outside work, should reinforce a positive image of you, the Company and its clients and Investors. It is essential to use good judgment in all your personal and business dealings. You should refrain from engaging in activities that could hurt the Company's reputation, or yours, and that could undermine the relationship of trust between you and the Company. Persons who have acted inappropriately may be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination for cause.

8.3 Remember your duties to AGPL when participating in outside interests.

The Company encourages you to be active participants in your community. While pursuing personal or not-for-profit activities, be mindful that your participation in any outside interest must not prevent you from adequately discharging your duties to AGPL. In addition, ensure that when you are involved in these activities you are not seen to be speaking on behalf of the Company.

8.4 Obtain permission before joining the board of directors or similar body of another entity.

Before accepting an appointment to the board or a committee of any non-AGPL entity, employees must receive approval from the CEO and the Company's internal legal counsel. Prior approval is not required to serve on boards of charities or non-profit organizations or small, private family holding companies that have no relation to the Company.

For greater clarity, approval is not needed to serve on the board of a family holding company which is an extension of one's personal business affairs; however, it is needed to serve on the board of a private operating business with significant operations. When in doubt as to whether you need to obtain permission, ask the Company's internal legal counsel or in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company.

8.5 Do not take corporate opportunities as your own personal opportunities.

You are prohibited from taking personal advantage of a business or investment opportunity that you become aware of through your work at AGPL. You owe a duty to the Company to advance its interests when the opportunity arises and you must not compete with the Company in any way.

8.6 Conflicts of Interest

The Code states that you should not take corporate opportunities as personal opportunities. There is a zero tolerance policy to any such conflict or potential conflict of interest. You must not, without the prior written consent of the CEO, engage, retain, hire or otherwise solicit, either orally or in writing, any vendor, contractor or other third party whom they know routinely supplies goods to or renders services for the Company to supply goods to or render services for the employee's personal purposes.

The only exception to this is where a subcontractor or supplier advertises widely in the domestic market and the goods, services and/or supplies can be obtained at market pricing or at a discount, if that discount is published and available to all AGPL employees.

9. Positive work environment

9.1 Be committed to creating a tolerant work environment free from discrimination and harassment.

The Company does not tolerate workplace discrimination and harassment. We must ensure that the Company is a safe and respectful environment where high value is placed on equity, fairness and dignity.

9.2 You have a duty to report discrimination and harassment.

If you experience or become aware of discrimination or harassment, you have a duty to report it. You should report discrimination in accordance with the "Reports and Complaints" section of the Code. Complaints of discrimination or harassment will be taken seriously and investigated. Any of us found to be harassing or discriminating against another individual, or any of us who knowingly condones the discrimination or harassment of another individual, will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination for cause.

The Company reserves the right to discipline employees who knowingly make a false accusation about an innocent party; however, you will not face retaliation for making a good faith report, or assisting in the investigation of a complaint.

9.3 Be committed to ensuring the health and safety of fellow directors, officers, employees and others.

We all have the right to work in an environment that is safe and healthy. In this regard, we must:

- Comply strictly with all occupational, health and safety laws and internal procedures;
- Not engage in illegal or dangerous behaviour, including any acts or threats of violence;
- Not possess, distribute or be under the influence of illicit drugs while on Company premises or when conducting Company business; and
- Not possess or use weapons or firearms or any type of combustible material in the Company's facilities, or at Company-sponsored functions.

9.4 Protect private personal information.

While at AGPL, you may be provided sensitive personal, medical and financial information. Those with access to this information have an obligation to protect it, and use it only to the extent necessary to do their work. Common examples of confidential information include: benefits information; compensation information; medical records; and contact information, such as a home address.

10. Compliance with Laws, Rules, Regulations and Policies

10.1 Know and comply with all laws, rules, regulations and policies applicable to your position.

Many of the Company's activities are governed by laws, rules, regulations and policies that are subject to change. If you have questions about the applicability or interpretation of certain laws, rules, regulations or policies relevant to your duties at AGPL you should consult with the Company's internal legal counsel or in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company. In the event a local law, custom or practice conflicts with the Code you must adhere to whichever is most stringent. If you know of any of our practices that may be illegal, you have a duty to report it. Ignorance of the law is not, in general, a defence to breaking the law. We expect you to make every reasonable effort to become familiar with the laws, rules, regulations and policies affecting your activities and to comply with them. If you have any doubts as to the applicability or interpretation of any of the above, you should obtain advice from the Company's internal legal counsel or in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company.

10.2 Do not trade in the Company's securities and in any other publicly-traded securities if you possess material non-public information

While at AGPL, you may have access to or become aware of material non-public information, either about AGPL, AGPL managed entities, NIIF, an Affiliate or a publicly-traded entity. You must not use this information to gain a financial advantage for yourself or others, either by way of making a trade for yourself, "tipping" others on the information, or otherwise. Doing so is not only a violation of the Code that will result in immediate termination for cause, but is also a serious violation of securities laws and will expose any individuals involved to potential civil and criminal prosecution.

If you have questions about securities laws or the company's internal trading policies and procedures, contact the company's internal legal counsel or in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company.

10.3 Depending on your role at the Company, you may have to pre-clear trades or avoid trading altogether.

All employees (and their family members) who are physically situated in AGPL, HO or other offices must preclear trades in such Entities as may be informed by AGPL and receive prior approval from the Company before executing any trade.

10.4 Do not give or receive bribes, including "facilitation payments".

We value our reputation for conducting business with honesty and integrity. It is vital for us to maintain this reputation as it generates confidence in our business by our stakeholders, which ultimately means it is good for business. We do not pay bribes in furtherance of our business, either directly or indirectly, and you are not permitted to pay bribes on our behalf or authorize others to pay bribes on our behalf. This commitment comes from the highest levels of management and you must meet this standard. Facilitation payments are also a form of bribe, and are therefore, not permitted.

10.5 The giving or receiving of gifts and entertainment should be proportionate and reasonable for the circumstances.

Gifts and entertainment given to or received from persons who have a business relationship with the company are generally acceptable, if the gift or entertainment is modest in value, appropriate to the business relationship, and does not create an appearance of impropriety. No cash payments should be given or received. In addition, gifts should not be given to or received from public officials unless specifically approved. Further, employees should ensure that regular Gifts and entertainment is not appropriate behaviour. Employees who do not comply with these requirements may be required to reimburse the company for the value of any gifts or benefits they receive on behalf of the company.

11. Reports and complaints

11.1 You are strongly encouraged to make good faith reports and complaints.

Internal reporting is critical to the Company's success, and it is both expected and valued. You are required to be proactive and promptly report any suspected violations of the Code, or any illegal or unethical behaviour that you become aware of. When making a report, please include specific details and back-up documentation where feasible in order to permit adequate investigation of the concern or conduct reported. Vague, nonspecific or unsupported allegations are inherently more difficult to pursue.

You should report violations of the Code to their supervisor, since the supervisor is generally in the best position to resolve the issue. Alternatively, you may contact the Company's internal counsel/ whistle officer/ Officer designated for the purpose to report potential Code violations, or in absence of the same, the person authorized by the Company if you have any specific or general questions.

11.2 Complaints will be kept confidential and will be dealt with appropriately.

The confidentiality of reported violations will be maintained to the fullest extent possible, consistent with the need to conduct an adequate review and subject to applicable law. We would prefer that you identify yourself to facilitate our investigation of any report; however, if you do not feel comfortable doing so you can make an anonymous report. The party receiving the complaint must record its receipt, document how the situation was dealt with and file a report with internal audit, which will be retained for the record. The Chief Risk Officer (or the Chief Executive Officer, till the Chief Risk Officer is appointed) will report all illegal and unethical conduct in violation of the Code to the appropriate AGPL Board of Directors, or a committee thereof, and externally in accordance with applicable laws.

11.3 You will not experience retribution or retaliation for a complaint made in "good faith".

No retribution or retaliation will be taken against any person who has filed a report based on the reasonable good faith belief that a violation of the Code has occurred or may in the future occur; however, making a report does not necessarily absolve you (if you are involved) or anyone else of the breach or suspected breach of the Code. The Company reserves the right to discipline you if you provide false information or make an accusation you know to be untrue. This does not mean that the information that you provide has to be correct, but it does mean that you must reasonably believe that the information is truthful and demonstrates a possible violation of the Code. If you believe that you have been unfairly or unlawfully retaliated against, you may file a complaint with your supervisor or the company's internal counsel or HR or CEO.

11.4 Disciplinary Action for Code Violations

Non-compliance with this Code may result in disciplinary measures, including verbal or written warnings, suspension, termination of employment or contract, recovery of losses, and potential legal action, depending on the severity of the violation.

11.5 Statement of Compliance

Upon joining AGPL, each of us including the director, officer and employee will be provided with a copy of the Code and required to sign an acknowledgement. We will also be required to re-certify compliance with the Code on an annual basis. Annual execution of a Statement of Compliance with the Code shall be a condition of your continued employment / association with the Company.

11.6 Compliance, Monitoring, and Review

- The Compliance Officer, as designated by the Company, shall be responsible for implementing and monitoring adherence to this Code.

- Periodic training and awareness sessions shall be conducted for employees and stakeholders.

- The Code shall be reviewed annually by the Board of Directors or as directed by the Compliance Function of the National Investment and Infrastructure Fund Limited ("NIIFL") , to ensure its continued relevance and effectiveness.

11.7 Waivers

A waiver of the Code will be granted only in very exceptional circumstances. A Code waiver for AGPL employees must be approved by the CEO, with CEO intimating the same to the Board of Company. A Code waiver for CEO must be approved by the Chair of the Board. A Code waiver for a officer or employee of an Affiliate may be granted in accordance with the policies of the Affiliate, as consistent with the Code.

11.8 Amendments

AGPL Board of Directors reviews and approves the Code on at least an annual basis and is ultimately responsible for monitoring compliance with the Code.

11.9 Administration and Interpretation

Any questions, clarifications, or interpretations of this Code should be referred to the Compliance Officer, who may consult the CEO, Board, or NIIFL's Compliance Function, as appropriate. The Board of Directors reserves the right to amend or update this Code at any time to reflect evolving legal, ethical, or governance requirements.

11.10 Legal Notice

The Company reserves the right to modify, suspend or revoke the Code and any related policies, procedures, and programs at any time. The Company also reserves the right to interpret and amend the Code and these policies in its sole discretion. Any amendments to the Code will be disclosed and reported as required by applicable law.

Neither the Code, nor any of the policies referred to herein, confer any rights, privileges or benefits on any employee (or person covered under this Code), create an entitlement to continued employment at the Company, establish conditions of employment for the employee (or person covered under this Code), or create an express or implied contract of any kind between employees (or person covered under this Code) and the Company. In addition, the Code does not modify the employment relationship between employees (or person covered under this Code) and the Company.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why do we have a Code?

The Code serves as a guide for how you should conduct yourself in your association / as a member of the Company. Preserving our corporate culture is vital to the organization and following the Code helps us do that.

Who must follow the Code?

All officers and employees of AGPL and Project SPVs , its wholly-owned subsidiaries and other persons specified under the Code.

What are your responsibilities?

You have two responsibilities. First, you must follow every aspect of the Code and certify your commitment each year. Second, if you suspect someone may be violating the Code you have an obligation to report it. To make a report, follow the section of the Code: "Reports and Complaints".

How will I know if there is a problem?

The Code attempts to deal with the most common issues that you may encounter, but it cannot address every question that may arise. When you're not sure what to do, ask yourself the following questions:
Is it illegal?

- Does it feel like the wrong thing to do?
- Would you feel uncomfortable if others knew about it?
- Will it have the potential to create a negative perception of you or the Company?
- Do you have a personal interest that has the potential to conflict with the Company's interest?

If you answer "yes" to any of these questions, your proposed conduct may violate the Code and you should ask for help.

How should I ask for help?

If you have questions about the Code or about the best course of action to take in a particular situation, you should seek guidance from your supervisor or internal counsel.

What if I would like to make an anonymous report?

You may make an anonymous report by contacting your supervisor or company counsel or HR. If you choose to make an anonymous report, your anonymity will be protected to the fullest extent possible. Keep in mind, however, that maintaining your anonymity may limit the Company's ability to investigate your concerns.

What are the consequences for violating the Code?

Violations of the Code can vary in its consequences. If you're an employee, it could result in a reprimand or other disciplinary action, including the termination of your employment at the company for cause. Certain violations of the Code also contravene applicable laws and therefore can have severe consequences outside of AGPL. Depending on your actions, failing to comply with the Code could lead to civil or criminal prosecution, which could result in substantial fines, penalties and/or imprisonment.
